HOME STAGING TIPS

Staging your home to sell can be a great way to make it more attractive to potential buyers. This will help buyers to envision themselves living in your home.

BEING MINDFUL

To get started, declutter and depersonalize your home. How you style your home can be a make-it-or-break point for a potential buyer. They must be able to picture themselves living in your space, so be mindful of what you leave visible to viewers.

HIRE A PRO

You can hire or rent professional props and decorators to help stage your home. Be sure to put away any personal photographs, memorabilia, and artifacts, as they will look cluttered to a potential buyer.

PICTURE PERFECT

Consider getting professional photos taken, as these determine the first impression the potential buyer will have of your house.

DON'T FORGET

Focus on your home's curb appeal by sprucing up the landscaping and adding fresh touches like a new welcome mat and potted plants. Also, make sure to organize closets and drawers, cover unappealing features, and add accent pieces that will help to create a cozy atmosphere.

Going Live

LISTING YOUR HOME

Make sure your photos and descriptions are clear, attractive, and relevant.

These are the first impressions of your home to a potential buyer.

Congratulations! You have officially listed your home for sale.

Our real estate agents will use their network to ensure that your listing is as visible as possible and reaches the appropriate audience.

We can supply a sign for your front yard to let passersby know of your intentions to sell.

SHOWINGS

For the first few weeks/ weekends, make sure your calendar is flexible for showings. This will help provide potential buyers with a greater number of viewing options. Private showings and open house tours will be set up during the first few weeks of listing your home.

REMAIN FLEXIBLE

You should make arrangements for pets and children during viewing times to help make the viewing experience as pleasant and distraction-free as possible. Be flexible: Be willing to accommodate potential buyers' schedules and make your home available at various times.

"YOU NEVER GET A SECOND CHANCE TO MAKE A FIRST IMPRESSION."
-WILL ROGERS.

FINAL STEPS

Closing

Closing is the final step in your home selling process. During the closing phase of the sale, you can expect the following:

The deed to the house will be delivered to the purchaser. The ownership is transferred to the purchaser.

Any other documents, including financing, insurance, and legal documents, are exchanged.

The negotiated purchase price is paid, and any other fees (i.e., commissions) are paid.

Be prepared for obstacles and hiccups! They happen during this phase, but that doesn't mean the sale is over.

You can start packing and moving into your new place at this time!

Congrats!

THANK YOU

Thank you for taking the time to review this package. I have sent you these materials in advance of our meeting so that you will know a little more about me, my services, and how they will benefit you.

At this point, I don't know all of your particular needs and objectives, nor do I know your financial and family situation entirely. I do know that selling a home can be an extremely stressful or extremely exciting depending on the agent you choose to represent you. My job is to provide you with enough information to make an honest and informed decision based on facts.

As you look through this package, write down any questions you have. I will cover everything at our appointment and address any issues together.

I am preparing a full market analysis and presentation for our meeting, which will cover all of the services I provide to ensure you get top dollar when you sell. Selling your home is a complicated task, so it is crucial to have every possible advantage you can. It starts by hiring the right agent.

Thank you again for your time, and I look forward to meeting with you.
